

Congratulations to Enrique Gómez Hernández

From Decco we would like to congratulate our colleague Enrique Gómez Hernández, recently appointed as a professor in a Permanent Training action at the Polytechnic University of Valencia, where he will teach Citrus and Other Crop Postharvest Technology lessons from Valencian Community.

It is for Decco a pride that Enrique Gómez will help train new generations of specialists in the field, as well as to spread the results of his investigation and the know-how that he treasures both personally and professionally thanks to his extensive experience and skills. This is an honor that Decco will share with the Polytechnic University of Valencia in the construction of new talents where the science and agri-food industry converge.